DURING THE SAINT DENIS ASSAULT FROM 6 AM TO 11: 30 AM WHEN THE KAMIKAZE WOMAN BLEW UP----

It is around 6 am Wednesday morning. It's been nearly two hours than men of Raid and BIS identified and launched the assault against two adjoining apartments in a building, Corbillion street in Saint-Denis. According to their information, terrorists linked to Friday's attacks, are entrenched in the scene. One of them is going to explode.-----

Since 4:45, the security forces are at work. Initially, the police use of explosives to force the resistant door of one of the apartments. This is why the terrorists had time to prepare their response. At that time, the "men in black", however, challenge three individuals who were inside, one of them was wounded in the arm. One of the policemen asked the kamikaze woman, between two exchanges of gunfire: -----

Where is your boyfriend? , Shouts a policeman-----

She answers: "He's not my boyfriend" answering the voice of what sounds like a woman's.-----

The operation continues. The police tried to dislodge the other occupants. In a recording tape obtained by TF1 tv means the police calling the terrorists to surrender. These provide an answer without discussion. The explosion followed the short exchange of "conversation" [?] between the policeman and the kamikaze woman.-----

"An explosion sounded then revealing the commission of a kamikaze action," detailed the public prosecutor in Paris, Francois Molins, late Wednesday afternoon.-----

The terrorist is presented as a woman who could be the cousin of Abdelhamid Abaaoud, the alleged sponsor of the attacks. On this point, François Molins prefers to remain cautious. "The first elements of the investigation and police intervention have left us to believe that the explosion was consecutive to a woman who activated his vest of explosives," he explains.

"This point will however be verified by the examination of the bodies, the bodies of debris as well as all technical and scientific police operations," he concludes.-Source: France TV, and DH
