Video licensing platform Rumble.com announced on March 8, it has entered into a partnership with Getty Images, the global leader in visual communication, enabling Getty Images to license social and viral videos exclusively managed by Rumble. Rumble will make its entire portfolio of social and viral videos available for license by Getty Images' global customer base, becoming the largest source of social video for Getty Images.

Rumble will be helping Getty Images source, validate, clear and acquire the most popular social videos found on the web, adding to its industry-leading video collection. Getty Images customers will have access to videos from Rumble's 18,000+ social video creators.

Rumble's creator-centric platform has enabled more than 18,000 amateur video creators, media companies, and celebrities to distribute and monetize their social videos. Video creators upload their videos to the Rumble platform, which are then automatically posted to networks like YouTube and Facebook.
