French Prime Minister Manuel Valls was booed as he attended a minute of silence for the victims of the Nice attack, in the south-eastern French city on Monday. Several thousand people attended the memorial ceremony, which was held in front of the Monument du Centenaire near the Promenade des Anglais. Monday, July 18 at noon, thousands of people gathered in several towns and villages in France. They started together "La Marseillaise" and directed a minute of silence for the victims of the attack of July 14 in Nice. The French people expressed their anger, after Manuel Valls said just after the terrorist attack " "France must learn to live with terrorism." Because of this defeatist statement the French booed him. »

A MINUTE OF SILENCE WAS RESPECTED IN NICE AND ELSEWHERE IN THE ERST OF FRANCE AS TRIBUTE FTO THE VICTIMS-----

A minute of silence was respected in Nice by a crowd of several thousand people gathered on the Promenade des Anglais in the presence of Prime Minister Manuel Valls, and throughout France, in tribute to victims of the attack of 14 July Nice. Monday, July 18 at noon, thousands of people gathered in several towns and villages in France. They started together "La Marseillaise" (French anthem) and directed a minute of silence for the victims of the attack of July 14 in Nice. The stage during Prime Minister Valls has been booed and hissed in Nice, lasted only 2 minutes, just before and after the official minute of silence for the 84 victims of the terrorist attack of July 14 in Nice. But those two minutes seemed endless as the crowd was angry animated by sadness and anguish facing the horror of their victims. They chanted "Resignation" or "Assassin", expressing in great distress whistles ally is a feeling of powerlessness has the impression of being abandoned by the authorities ... before that such a tragedy from the Promenade des Anglais. This ledge so famous will now sadly legendary by this crazy attack from the truck that stole the lives of innocent people in a national day of night.

FRENCH PEOPLE REACT VERY EMOTIONALLY AFTER THE 3RD TERRORIST ATTACK WITHIN ONE YEAR-----

The town is in mourning as the rest of the country but the cue seems full because it is the 3rd attack in a year, since Charlie in January 2016, then the Black Friday of November 13 and then, on Bastille Day Day, July 14, 2016.-----

The national unity needs strong solidarity but is not as far looks solid and cohesion has been eroded over the deaths of numbers despite the decree of "state of emergency" and its extensions. The opposition as soon hastened to denounce the shortcomings of this insufficient emergency state has their eyes to counter terrorism in France. "The Republicans" were in the same morning held a political council to make and announce 10 proposals to strengthen the current safety rules. The President Hollande had announced that effect the increase of police personnel and gendarmerie by recruiting more reservists.

FRENCH PM MANUEL VALLS IS ALWAYS IN TROUBLE BEACUSE OF THE 49.3 REGARDING LABOR LAW-----

Article 49-3 of the French Constitution gives the possibility to the Prime Minister, after deliberation by the Council of Ministers, to liability of the Government on the vote of a bill. If the head of government decides to use it, the decision results in immediate suspension of the discussion of the document. Having participated in 2012 in the development of the economic program of Francois Hollande, Ms Berger said today disappointed by the executive and believes M.Valls has no legitimacy. The French government is preparing to again resort to Article 49-3, which allows the adoption without a vote of a law for the second reading of the labor bill to the National Assembly. "Personally, I consider that the use of 49-3 twice testifies to the fact that he no longer the majority in the Assembly with him and that, therefore, motion of censure or no confidence motion, it was 49-3 early in the second reading, the Prime Minister could not stay. he should resign, "said the member who declares himself" stunned "by the speech of M.Valls.
